

This tax on broadband providers who are barely surviving economically at this time would be a great burden as well as unfair. Taking money from the small operator and making it only available to the large operator is tantamount to subsidizing the large inefficient carriers at the detriment of the small efficient and pioneering wireless access providers. I will be contacting my congressional representatives to make sure they are aware of this incredible misuse and abuse of federal powers and of a federal bureaucracy gone screwy.